What is Training for Gender Equality?

Training for gender equality is an essential component for UN Women’s commitment to advance gender equality and women’s empowerment.

Training for gender equality is a transformative process that aims to provide knowledge, techniques and tools to develop skills and changes in attitudes and behaviours. It is a continuous and long-term process that requires political will and commitment of all parties in order to create an inclusive, aware and competent society to promote gender equality.

It is a tool and strategy to effect individual and collective transformation towards gender equality through consciousness raising, empowering learning, knowledge building, and skill development. Training helps men and women to build gender competence and acquire the knowledge and skills necessary for advancing gender equality in their daily lives and work. Training for gender equality is part and parcel of delivering our commitments to equal human rights for all.

The UN Women Training Centre approach to training for gender equality is guided by key international normative instruments, in particular:

- Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW)
- Beijing Platform for Action
- Sustainable Development Goals

What type of learning modalities does the UN Women Training Centre use?

The UN Women Training Centre employs the following learning Modalities:

- Self-paced courses are delivered online and can be accessed through a computer. Self-paced courses allow participants to access content on their own pace, and from anywhere at any time.
- Moderated courses emulate the traditional classroom environment and take this experience to an online setting with various facilities such as discussion forums, interactive webinars, webcasts (or both), and real-time chatting.
- Blended courses combine online and face-to-face learning. Part of the course is given online and part of the course is face-to-face.
- Face-to-face courses allow facilitators and participants to be present in a physical room.

UNDERSTANDING MASCULINITY AND VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

OBJECTIVE
This training workshop aims to support participants to reflect on power imbalance, gender inequality, privilege, and violence against women and girls through analyzing masculinity. Participants will be asked to challenge harmful masculine norms and practices, to critically examine gendered self, and to identify steps one can take to transform to be a more gender equitable man and woman.

CONTENT
The training workshop is divided into the following modules:
• Gender power relations
• Masculinity and violence against women and girls
• Towards personal transformation

AUDIENCE
The training workshop can be for anyone who works with the UN or works inside UN premises, regardless of background, sex, age, ethnicity or work function. The audience can be non-technical personnel, such as drivers, security personnel and maintenance staff, as well as with programmatic and operations staff members. However, it must be noted that some basic reading and writing literacy competency is required.

The course can also be adapted for non-UN organizations.
Gender, Migration, Development

OBJECTIVE
This course aims to provoke thinking and action around migration and development from a gender and rights-based perspective, bringing to the fore migration for care, the importance of putting the right to care on the development agenda, and migrant women’s rights. Participants will gain knowledge and capacities to design programmes and policies that strengthen the positive effects of migration in terms of development, both in origin and destination countries.

CONTENT
The course is divided into the following modules:
1. Introduction to Gender, Migration, and Development
2. Impact of Remittances on Local Economies in Origin Countries from a Gender Perspective
3. Global Care Chains
4. Migration Policies and Migrant Women’s Rights

AUDIENCE
The course is designed for officials of public institutions and ministries dealing with migration issues; representatives of workers’ organizations; representatives of employers’ organizations; NGOs; diaspora and migrant associations; international development agencies; regional economic communities; research institutes.

This course was developed with the financial support from the Government of Spain.
Promoting Gender Equality and Leadership Opportunities for Women in Multilateral Decision-Making Fora

OBJECTIVE

To raise awareness of women’s role and importance of personal identity in solving some of the challenges at the negotiation table in the context of the United Nations conferences and decision-making fora. The course also serves to build and develop relations and networking.

At the end of the workshop, participants will be able to:

- Understand what characterizes a strong leader;
- Appraise what is meant by charismatic and visionary leadership;
- Assess their own leadership style, recognizing personal strengths and appreciating how these may be applied with relevance to their area of work at the national level and within multilateral diplomacy at large;
- Appreciate what it is like to be a female leader, and discuss challenges and opportunities,
- Identify opportunities to integrate a gender perspective across the work and negotiations of their field.

CONTENT

The course includes a series of face-to-face workshops to be held in New York and Geneva. The workshops will be one or two days in length. Additionally, participants may take part in a mentoring programme and will become members of an alumni network to act as multipliers after the workshops. After the workshop, participants will be invited to an online platform, where they can continue their interaction, connect with participants from other workshops, discuss developments and share best practices.

AUDIENCE

Up to 30 female Diplomats and delegates from Member States, and government officials accredited to the conferences.

AN INTRODUCTION TO GENDER EQUALITY FOR UN STAFF

OBJECTIVE
This course aims to develop and/or strengthen awareness and understanding of gender equality and women’s empowerment as a first step towards behavioral change and the integration of a gender perspective into everyday work for all UN staff at headquarters, regional and country levels. It provides an introduction to the concepts, international framework, and methods for working toward gender equality and women’s empowerment. It also offers users the opportunity to make links between gender and specific thematic areas such as work; education; political participation; emergencies; peace and security; sexual and reproductive health; sexual and gender diversity and human rights; and violence against women.

CONTENT
Three core modules provide a common denominator for all UN system staff:
- Gender concepts to get started;
- International frameworks for gender equality; and
- Promoting gender equality throughout the system. This module includes an introduction to the UN gender architecture and strategies to address the challenges to advancing gender equality and the empowerment of women.

Optional thematic modules can be accessed after the user completes the core modules. Some of these were developed in collaboration with partner agencies as identified below:
- Women’s economic empowerment (UN Women)
- Women’s leadership and decision-making (UN Women)
- Violence against women and girls (UN Women)
- Gender equality in the world of work (ILO)
- Gender equality and education (UNESCO)
- Sexual and reproductive health and rights (UNFPA)
- Gender equality in emergencies (WFP)

Upcoming thematic modules include:
- Women, peace and security (UN Women)
- Sexual and gender diversity and human rights (OHCHR and UNAIDS)
- Gender Equality and International Trade (UNCTAD)
- Volunteerism and Gender Equality (UNV)
AUDIENCE
All UN System staff, as well as government officials, development practitioners, civil society and individuals interested in gaining knowledge and understanding about gender equality and women’s rights issues.

PARTNER:
Partner agencies which contributed optional thematic modules for the course include: ITC-ILO, OHCHR, UNAIDS, UNCTAD, UNESCO, UNFPA, UNV, WFP. Additionally, the following agencies participated in the peer review where consensus was reached on core modules and content: ESCWA, FAO, IAEA, IFAD, IOM, ITC-ILO, OHCHR, UNAIDS, UNDP, UNESCO, UNFPA, UNICEF.

INSTRAW Institutional Memory and Online Library

Language
English, Spanish and French

Objective
The INSTRAW Institutional Memory and online Library aims to capitalize on the work, experience and knowledge gathered by UN INSTRAW from its creation in 1976, making them available to the UN System, the host country (Dominican Republic), and the general public.

Content
This INSTRAW remembrance has two main elements: the publication The Intellectual Legacy of INSTRAW for the Promotion of Women’s Rights: Institutional Memory from 1978-2010, and the INSTRAW Online Library that gathers all publications (searchable and downloadable) produced by former INSTRAW.

Audience
All persons interested in gender equality.
