

National Committees for UN Women

National Committees for UN Women are independent non-governmental organizations that support the mission of UN Women through their dynamic membership programmes, advocacy, public education about UN Women and global women's issues, and fundraising efforts to support UN Women programmes worldwide.

Currently, there are National Committees for UN Women in 12 countries: Australia, Austria, Finland, France, Germany, Iceland, Japan, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Sweden, United Kingdom, and United States.
